Market Review

The US Treasury continued to go up in March after Fed Chair J. Powell indicated he was not concerned about the surge in long-term yields. The 10Y yield reached 1.74%, the highest level since Jan.-20. In Europe, the Bund stabilised at -0.29%, while the long-end of the curve steepened (German 2-30 curve: +9 bps to 95 bps). In this context, Periphery outperformed with prolonged spreads tightening. Despite inflation woes and Europe's ongoing vaccine issues, credit markets performed well. Market sentiment remained positive supported by the approved U.S. $1.9tn stimulus package. High yield bonds posted positive return (iBoxx EUR HY +0.45%), especially Contingent Convertible (+1.89%), as credit spreads tightened. Investment grade bonds underperformed (iBoxx EUR IG Corporates +0.08%).

Portfolio Performance

The fund increased by 0.58% in March. This performance was attributed to high yield bonds, especially single B (Casino, Altice France, Banijay) and CoCo (UBS, Intesa, Santanter). Conversely, investment grade bonds, particularly long-dated issues (Medtronic, Unibail, Enel perp) declined, due to the negative yield effect.

In a buoyant primary market, several new issues were introduced (Enel perp., Ahlstrom-Munksjö, Vilmorin, Foncia, Saipem, Hapag-Lloyd). We also entered Ipsos and Chanel bonds. Inversely, we took profit on the most expensive names (Kion, VW perp., Adevinata, Mölnlycke, Eurofins perp., Sanef).

Market Outlook

We remain vigilant on interest rates development. On the one hand, the economic situation could be under pressure in the short run with extended lockdowns and vaccination delays. On the other hand, prolonged monetary and fiscal support and reopening prospects by the summer are promising. Consequently, we maintained a moderate duration.

In such environment, focus is still on corporate bonds that will benefit from improved economic activity. They also remain more attractive compared to government bonds. Indeed, the fund is slightly tilted towards high yield and subordinated bonds. Additionally, we will continue to scrutinise the primary market and implement relative value arbitrages.
